

Cultured Llama Publishing open to submissions

Cultured Llama Publishing is now accepting submissions for our developing list of poetry, short fiction and culture titles.

We only publish poetry collections, short story collections and anthologies; we do not publish pamphlets. Anthologies may be multi-author collections by writers' or artists' groups, which may include works of non-fiction and visual art.

Authors must have completed, or near-completed, their prospective book before approaching us.

Some of your writing should already have been published, for example, in good quality literary magazines/journals or on websites, so we expect you to provide details of these.

Your book proposal should comprise: twelve poems, or three short stories or sample chapters in the case of anthologies or multi-author works.

In no more than one page, please provide:

- your full contact details
- the title of the book
- the approximate length of the book
- what your book is about
- who the potential readership is
- why we should publish your book
- your profile as a writer: i.e.
 - publication history

- details of your success in competitions
- how you play an active part in the contemporary literary scene
- how you seek an active readership
- how you intend to promote your book
- brief endorsements from at least two published poets or writers, or creative writing tutors.

Send your proposal in a single Word document, as an attachment, with your name in the document title. Please include your contact details in the body of the document. We shall only read proposals presented in this format.

Cultured Llama Publishing does not accept unsolicited manuscripts and we will not return any manuscripts sent to us prospectively.

Authors should be aware that although we actively support authors who tour, read and perform their work, we do not normally organise tours and cannot guarantee to attend launches or readings.

Please consider buying one of our publications so that you are aware of the kind of work we publish.

If you have something that you think we would be interested in publishing, contact us via email in the first instance with your proposal, as detailed above.
